BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE TO MRS. STANLEY ROGERS

Seldom has there been a death in this community which caused the universal sorrow that followed the passing away of Mrs. Stanley Rogers. Dying in the prime of life when she was so essential to her husband and three little children, the heart strings of all our people have throbbed with sorrow and pity. The large number of friends and relatives who attended the funeral services at the Presbyterian church on Wednesday afternoon testified to the love and esteem in which Mrs. Rogers was held. The following beautiful tribute to the life and worth of Mrs. Rogers, which was written by one who had known her all her life was read at the funeral:

Mora Harsha Rogers was born May 15th, 1887 and died December 21st, 1924, having lived but 37 years, 7 months and 6 days.

She was the daughter of Charles Marion Harsha and Elizabeth H. Harsha.

She was married on June 24th, 1908 to Stanley Rogers, and to him and their children, Martha, aged 10, Marian, aged 8 and Thomas, aged 4, this is the deepest of all sorrows.

Her mother survives her. She would have been glad to have taken Mora's place, but death accepts no substitute, having already taken out of this family two sisters in 1905 and the father in 1913 leaving this mother, one sister, Mrs. R. F. McMullen, of Ashland, Ohio, and one brother, Mr. Paul Harsha, of Hillsboro. We wonder why death comes so often to some homes and leaves others so long unbroken, but we cannot solve such problems. This, however, we can say of her that while her life work seems to be unfinished her life was so lived as to be complete. She could not have added to her life another virtue of christian grace, had she lived to be three score and ten.

A loving devoted child in the parental home, a faithful member of the church since the age of ten, a splendid musician while yet a young girl, a devoted wife, crowning it all with the motherhood of these three beautiful children ,is not such a life complete?

Hers was a useful life. She had developed the capacity to do the things that the home, the church and the community needed and she was willing to do them.

Some would do but cannot; others could do but will not, but she both could and would.

Hers was a cheerful life. One who taught her in the Sabbath School said she was "a ray of sunshine" in the class; another teacher said of her that she seemed just as anxious to contribute something to the interest of the class as she was to get something from it.

At the end of such a complete useful and cheerful life, we maw well say "O death, thou hast no sting.
O grave, thou hast no victory."

She lived in and near Rainsboro until she came to Hillsboro 21 years ago with her sister, Mrs. Lizzie Brown, and family, with whom she made her home until her death. These sisters had a deep, abiding and unselfish love for each other and made their home together for all but a little over eight years of Miss Redkey's life.

Miss Redkey was very religious and joined the Methodist church at Rainsboro when ten years of age. From that time until nine years ago when she fell and broke her hip she was a regular attendant at Sunday School and church services. After her accident she was a semi-invalid and was able but seldom to attend Sunday School. She frequently expressed her regret that she was no longer permitted to take part in this religious service. Her religion was an important part of her life. It was not just a lip service. She practiced it in her daily life. In every act, in every thought she endeavored to live according to the teachings of her Master. Always she did what she thought was right. Whatever mistakes she made were of the head. Her heart was always right.

OBITUARY.

Leone Glenn Fettro, daughter of Charles and Birtie Fettro, was born April 21, 1901, and passed to life eternal on the evening of Dec. 1, 1924, aged 23 years, 7 months and 10 days. She was one of a family of seven, the father and two sisters having preceded her to the great beyond.

She was united in marriage to Arnold Glenn Wilkin on March 23, 1918. To this union were born two children, Stanley Elwood, aged 6, and Elizabeth Pauline, aged 4. She leaves besides her husband and children to mourn their loss, a mother, two brothers and two sisters, viz: Bunn and Harold Fettro, Mrs. Larson Griffith and Miss Martha Fettro, together with a host of relatives and firends.

She united with the Church of Christ at Fairview, in the year 1921 under the pastorate of Rev. Frank Foust. She has lived a quiet, devoted Christian life, seeking to do the will of her master. She was a kind and loving wife and mother always to be found gladly doing what her hands found to do, and bearing her illness so patiently that not a murmur escaped her lips during her lingering illness. Anxious to live yet submissive to the inevitable. All that loving thought could suggest, medical skill and ministering friends could do to alleviate her suffering was done. But in vain. Her departure leaves to us the truth of God's love to call his own.

So ends the eulogy of a good wife and mother in this life, but just beyond, over the border another book shall be opened and on its first page shall be written by her these words: "I have begun a new life in a new and better world."

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rockwell receved a telegram Friday afternoon from Springfield that their daughter her husband and little girl, a brother of the husband had all been instantly killed while on their way here for a visit, about three miles east of Springfield, when a Big Four passenger train crashed into their automobile. Mr. Burris sustained a severe injury in September. He was working at the D. T. & I. depot in Dayton handling freight. A case of eggs fell, striking him and breaking several ribs and injuring him internally. An abscess formed from his injury from which he suffered terribly. He consulted a number of physicians and none of them was able to do anything for him. He was unable to work and thought he never would be and felt that he wa sa charge on his family and that life held nothing for him but suffering.

He left several letters in which he said that he was going to take his life because of his suffering and the hopelessness of life under such conditions.

Mr. Burris was 54 years of age and had lived near Sugartree Ridge until a few years ago. He is survived by his wife and nine children. There is no doubt but that Mr. Burris' mind became unbalanced, due to his suffering and illness and caused him to take his own life.

IN LOVING MEMORY

Of Rebecca Anna Walker, dearly beloved mother, who passed to the great beyond Jan. 6, 1924.

Today recalls sad memories
Of our loved one gone to rest
And those who think of her this week
Are those who loved her best.

Peaceful be thy sleep dear Mother
It is sweet to breathe thy name
In life we loved you dearly
In death we do the same.

When the evenings shadows are falling
And we're sitting all alone
In our hearts there comes a longing
If you only would come home.

You have left us sad and lonely.
No time to say good-bye.
But we hope and trust to meet you
In that home beyond the skies.

In the fall of 1918 the family moved from Danville to their present home Troy street, Dayton. His demise was very sudden, due to organic heart trouble. He was aware of the seriousness of his condition and frequently spoke of it to his devoted wife and daughters. Saying don't worry, all is well with me. While his going was expected it was indeed a great shock to us all.

Billy was of a sunny disposition always endeavoring to lead others to see the brighter side of life and lend his aid and encouragement to that end. We feel that his friendship extended to his acquaintances and all who knew him were his friends both here in Dayton and back in Danville.

Especially were we comforted in our great sorrow by the presence of so many of his schoolmates and friends who braved the zero weather to be wtih us in the saddest hour of our life.

We can truly say our father was truly loved by the vast number of people who thronged our home with words of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings.

Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Wilson and daughter, Marjorie, and Harry Wilson all of Springfield, were instantly killed Friday morning when the car in which they were riding was struck by a Big Four passenger train at a grade crossing near Springfield. The Wilsons were on their way to Carmel to visit Mrs. Wilson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rockwell. When Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell received word of the terrible tragedy they were preparing dinner for their daughter and her family. They at once left for Springfield. Mr. Rockwell has returned home but Mrs. Rockwell is still in Springfield. Elijah Wilson and Harry Wilson were nephews of H. C. Wilson, of this city, and Harry had visited his uncle in October.

Harry Wilson was driving the car, a Buick roadster, and it is believed that frost on his windshield kept him from seeing the appraoching train. The automobile was hit squarely by the engine of the train and all four of the occupants were killed instantly. The machine was wrecked. The bodies of the four victims were terribly mangled. The funeral services were held at Springfield Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell bought a small farm near Carmel and moved there a little over a year ago. Since then their daughter and her family have visited them several times. They had exepected them for Christmas but could not get away and sent word that they would be there Friday. Elijah Wilson was 33 years of age, his wife 28, their little girl 8, and Harry Wilson 25.

The friends of Mr. King in this county will be pleased to learn of his advancement in newspaper work.

William "Bee" Knauer, former well known citizen of Danville, suffered an attack of heart trouble Monday while driving a truck and died at the wheel of the car. He must have felt the attack coming on as he had driven the car to the side of the road and stopped it but had not turned off the engine, which was still running when he was found dead on the seat of the car.

Knauer had been living in Dayton for several years and was employed as a salesman for the Gem City Packing Co. He started Monday morning by himself driving a truck for the company. When taken ill he was on the Springfield pike near the Huffman Dam. He guided the truck to the side of the road and brought it to a stop, but death intervened before he could turn off the engine.

The driver of an oil truck on his way to Dayton noticed the truck with Knauer at the wheel, but did not know Knauer was dead. He went to the city, unloaded his truck and returned over the same route.

When he noticed that the car was in the same place and the engine still running he investigated and found that Knauer was dead.

Mr. Knauer was 57 years of age and is survived by his wife and two daughters, Misses Clarus and Marguerite, his mother, who lives at Danville ,three brother, John, of Danville, Ed., of Williamsburg, and Frank of Batavia, and two sisters, Miss Anna, of Danville, and Mrs. Caroline Davidson, of Cincinnati.

About fifteen years ago Col. Burley retired as conductor because of the failure of his health. For two years he has been confined to the house. He had an unusually pleasant manner. Coming in contact daily with many people as conductor, he was always accommodating and obliging. It seemed to be a real pleasure to him to do some nice thing for his passengers. People who had been away from home looked forward to the cheery greeting they were certain to receive from him on their arrival at Blanchester. In his long service he won a legion of friends to whom his death will be a real sorrow.

OBITUARY.

John A. Bell, son of Amos and Rachel Anne Bell, was born April 25, 1843, at New Market, Highland County, Ohio, and departed this life at his home in Hillsboro, Ohio, January 20, 1925, aged 75 years, 9 months and 4 days. On July 12, 1891 he was united in marriage to Mary Ellen Sonner, of New Market, Ohio, Together they have journeyed the path of wedded life 34 years until the call came to him to enter that realm from which no traveler returns. He calmly went to sleep to awaken in the great beyond.

In his boyhood he accepted Jesus Christ as his Savior and united with the New Market Presbyterian Church, but in the battle of life he wandered from the path of obedience to his Lord, but as he often expressed in his last year of life, never wandered so far but that each day he could hear the wooing of the voice of his Savior calling, until in April 1924 he renewed his covenant and rejoiced in the wonderful hope of an eternal fellowship with Jesus Christ, his Lord. On April 29, 1924 he united with the Hillsboro United Brethren Church, where his faithful companion had fellowship for many years.

No words of eulogy did he desire, but his message to his fellowmen is "Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth" and "be thou faithful unto Death." He leaves to mourn their loss his wife, one brother, Stewart Bell, of New Market, and a sister, Olive Miller, of Hillsboro, and many relatives and friends.

His favorite hymn which he sang with his mother in boyhood and which he quoted so many tmes in his last days expresses his creed:

"A charge to keep I have; A God to glorify
A never dying soul to save. To fit it for the sky."

Mrs. A. R. Donohoo, aged 65 years died at her home near Blanchester Friday. Death came after a lingering illness. The funeral services, conducted by Rev. Nothstine, of Lynchburg, were held Monday at the home. Burial was made in the Stroup cemetery.

OBITUARY.

N. Jack Vance, youngest son of C. M. and Jennie Vance, was born at Cincinnati, Ohio, August 31, 1903 and departed this life January 24, 1925, aged 21 years, 4 months and 25 days.

The excellent training of a Christian home was demonstrated when but a boy of 12 years he confessed his faith in the Savior of the World and became a growing member of the Christian Church at Mowrystown, Ohio. As Jack grew older in years his faith and Christian qualities developed, as he remained true to his early pledge. His devotion to the Church and his qualities of leadership were exemplified as he accepted and faithfully filled positions of responsibility in the young people's department of the Church with which he was affiliated.

At the time of his death he was a member of the Christian Church at Union. He was a graduate of Hillsboro High School, being an Honor Pupil of the Graduating Class of 1922. He was a perfect specimen of young manhood. Athletics was one of the many features of school activities that received his attention. He earned his letter and was one of the successful members of the Hillsboro High School Football Team of 1922.

Jack had high ambitions and a desire to persue his educational career in order that he might be prepared to render the greatest sevice in his chosen field. Being anxious to pay his own way, he decided to work for a couple of years and secure a college education strictly from his own earnings. He was employed as brakesman on the Cincinnati Subdivision of the N. & W. Railway when death came to him so suddenly and unexpectedly. As a characteristic of his short life he was at his post of duty serving those for whom he worked faithfully and well when the end came.

Jack was very popular among the young people, faithful to his employers at all times and a devoted member of his family. He leaves to mourn their loss his chosen life's companion, Miss Marguerite List, Sardinia, Ohio, father and mother, brother, Raymond, and wife, and a host of relatives and friends.

Just A Moment Of Dark.

No time for a last farewell;
No time for the shock of fear,
Scarcely a moment's halt on the shore
With the guide and boatman near.
Dear, how surprised you were to go.
With little to suffer, little to know.

Only a moment of dark,
A dream of the fleeting night,
And then the beautiful break of day
And the quiet peace of light;
And you stand yourself, prepared to stand,
In the repose of the Fatherland.

Card of Thanks.

The family desire to extend their sincere thanks to all their kind friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings. Especially do they wish to thank Brother Traum for his words of consolation and Mr. Stockwell for the efficient and thoughtful service.

FUNERAL OF HARRY MAGILL.

The funeral services of Harry T. Magill was held Thursday afternoon in the Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. F. A. Johnson. Complying with a request of the deceased they were very simple, consisting only of a reading of scripture and a prayer. The church was filled with mourning friends of this popular young man who met such a tragic and untimely death.

Homer Lee Hawk entered into eternal rest. He had retired on the evening of December 23rd, feeling somewhat improved in health, but ere the morning dawned, death had kissed down his eyelids still.

Homer as he was effectionately called by all who knew him, was the second child of a family of six vhildren born to Amos and Dora Hawk. He was born in the vicinity of Winkle, Ohio, June 20th, 1884, and spent his entire life in the vicinity of his childhood.

On December 10, 1904, he was united in marriage with Amy A. Marconette. Ths union was blessed with five children, Neva Loree, Ray C., Madge Victoria, Grace Evelin and Charles Willard, all of whom with their mother survive.

The chief joy of Homer was the happiness and comfort of his family and he spared no pains in giving them aught that would contribute to their joy and success in life. As a father he was exemplary; as a husband he was devoted and kind.

Several weeks ago an accident occurred which greatly shocked and disturbed an already weakened heart which finally occasioned his death. On the eve of his death, before retiring, he told his father he was better, and let us believe even as his life's work has ended, he is better now. A life long acquaintance in commenting on his seemingly untimely death, remarked—"Homer had already at his age accomplished more in life than do most men who live out the allotted span of three score years and ten."

His interests in life were not selfish ones, and the community has lost one of its most public spirited citizens. He was always ready to serve both the church and school, being conscientious in what he did and true to his convictions. At the time of his death he was serving his church as deacon and was President of the White Oak Township Board of Education.

At the age of fourteen years he professed faith in Jesus Christ as his Saviour and united with the Union Christian Church and was baptised by Elder E. G. Hamilton, September 1, 1898. His life was ever consistent with his profession of faith.

In addition to his family and parents he leaves to mourn his demise one brother, Willie Hawk, and two sisters, Mrs. Maude Roler and Mrs. Bessie Enverard, together with a large circle of relatives and friends. One brother, Charles, and a sister, Mrs. Marguerite Sauner, having preceeded him in death.

OBITUARY OF JOHN WASHBURN.

How wonderful life is but how quickly cut off sometimes!

Little did we think one short week ago that John would have passed on to the better land, but such has been the Divine plan.

John Washburn, son of Ed and Emme Washburn, was born December 14, 1902, at the home near Barrett's Mills, Ohio.

John passed his boyhood days in this neighborhood and attended school upon the hill. As he grew to manhood, oftentimes, he would go away to labor for a few weeks, but, being a great lover of his home, and especially of his mother, he would return frequently to the parental roof.

John was such a great help about the house and in times of sickness he did so much to ease the load on his mother. He was so thoughtful and considerate of his mother and nothing that she might ask of him was refused or overlooked. Even in his days of suffering he was concerned about her and asked her not to worry about him.

Whatever work fell to John's lot was done to the best of his ability and he could be trusted in his work.

John was a favorite among his associates and friends and many were the inquiries during his short illness.

Left to mourn his going, besides his parents, are the aged grandmother and six brothers and two sisters---Ernest of Detroit, Joe, of Rainsboro, Homer of Good Hope, Cecil Garman, of Bainbridge, Grace Knisley, of Washington and Harry, Wells and Howard at home.

On Tuesday night, Feb. 3, John was stricken with what proved to be his fatal illness. After much suffering, he was removed to the Greenfield hospital, where he was operated on for the dread disease of appendicitus. He rallied well from the operation and every one was hopeful of his recovery but by Sunday the poison had done its work and another incision was made to relieve him, but all to no avail for he gradually grew worse, until at 4:11 Monday morning, Feb. 9, 1925, Josr passed on to a brighter life.

John was a good patient and suffered intense pain without complaint. He was one to be reasoned with and when conditions were explained to him as was willing to do that which was best. His constant nurse was none other than his friends and neighbor, Miss Ruth Clyborn, who did all that she could to ease his pain and save his life.

While John had seemingly felt from the first that he would not recover, yet when he bade his friends and loved ones good-bye, as he left home for the hospital, he smiled and said, "yes, I will be back", for he did not want the home-folks to feel that he would not return.

After the operation, when his brother Joe suggested that he had better lie down and rest so that he would get well and could go back home, John said, "I am not going back home. I have another home to go to."

It was Saturday evening that a great change came to John for then it was that he professed conversion and uttered a most wonderful prayer--the nurses stopped to listen and each went away with moistened eye. This decision brought naticeable relief to his intense suffering and he rested easier and was more quiet than any time during his illness and joyously sang his favorite song, "When the King Divine Saved Me," until he was completely exhausted.

So he lapsed into unconsciousness and slept quietly away.

Surely, this is a great consolation to the family to know that John was willing and ready to go to his eternal home and shall be waiting for each of them to join him there so that once again they may be an united family.

OBITUARY.

God placed man in the garden, made a law to govern that man and said, "The day thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die." Man partook and the penalty was placed and will continue on to the end of time.

The subject of our sketch has paid the penalty and passed on. Death is nothing strange, just a passing out of this life into another. Amanda E., daughter of Daniel and Elizabeth Vance Reynolds, was born April 17, 1847. Her passing on took place on the morning of Feb. 13, 1925, aged 77 years. 9 months and 26 days.

She was united in marriage with Thomas P. Hall, August 29, 1867. To this union came 4 children, Lewis, of Hamilton, Allie, of Sardinia, John and Stella, residing at the old home. She was born, raised and lived nearly all her life in Clay township. She was gentle, kind, loving, peaceable, Christian woman and hence was possessed of many friends.

She united with the New Light Church, when young, at the Toll school house, being baptised by Harrison Tolle. But when the Church of Christ was organized at Hollowtown she with her husband, placed their membership there where it remained until God called them home.

Her husband passed on June 12, 1924 and left her lonely and to mourn to the end. She leaves to mourn the loss 3 boys, 1 girl, 3 grandchildren, 1 great grandchild and many friends. She was the youngest and the last of the old family to go.

Mother is gone and we miss her for no other hand could soothe the aching brow like hers, but the children tried to repay her by that same loving help.

James Lowman was buried in the Quaker Hill cemetery last Thursday. He died in Pennsylvania. He was a grandson of two old pioneers, Abram Lowman and Joshua Davis. His father and mother had the small pox during the war, an event well remembered by our older residents. The father, William Lowman, died, but the mother, Ellen Davis Lowman, recovered. His parents are both buried on the hill. Two brothers and their wives came with the remains.

This community was greatly shocked when the news of our old neighbor and former resident, Charles Ridgway, was reported to have passed to the great beyond. The family most surely have the sincere sympathy of the community.

Peaceful rest came to Glenn Woolard at the home of his parents, F. M. Woolard and wife last Sunday, Feb. 8, after a lingering and painful illness. He was 24 years of age and the funeral was held by Rev. Mont Milner, assisted by Rev. A. E. Cloud at the Friends Church Tuesday afternoon. A large crowd was present to show their last respects to the young man. He leaves a wife, two children, his parents, two sisters and two brothers. He formerly lived at Logan.

Word has been received here of the death of Clint Crossen, at Bekersfield Calif., on Thursday, January 29. Mr. Crossen was well known here having married Miss Ella Copes, of this city. He was a former resident of Blanchester.

OBITUARY.

There is a reaper whose name is Death
And with his sickle keen,
He reaps the bearded gain at a breath,
And the flowers that grow between.

This "flower" whom the reaper has now plucked and transplanted in his fields above is Grace Delena Fender, daughter of Warner and Emma Fender, of Taylorsville, Ohio.

She was stricken with pneumonia and despite all that tender and loving care could do, it was but a few hours till her spirit returned to the One who gave it. She was of a bright and happy disposition, and her little life, with its sunshine and happiness will be sadly missed in the home. But we have the comforting words of Jesus, that, "Of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Mattie Lang Pope, daughter of Col. Cary T. and Katherine Hixson Pope, was born Jan. 10, 1866. She was married Jan. 20, 1887 to Chas. H. Pennington. Two children were born to them, Arville Robert and Hugh Lang, the latter dying in infancy.

PIONEER WOMAN OF THIS COUNTY

Eve Carey, Aged 90, Subject of Interesting Article in Farm and Fireside

In the March Farm and Fireside is a most interesting article about Mrs. Eve Cary, who lives on a little farm near Marshall. She is 90 years old, one of the pioneer settlers of this county. The article is by her grandson, Howard Cary, a New York magazine writer. Everyone in the neighborhood of Marshall knows and lives Mrs. Carey. This most interesting article about her follows:

My grand-mother's name is Eve Cary. She has a grand-son who is almost forty years old, and a great grand-son who entered this life some eighteen years ago. Her husband has been dead these ten years. She lives on a 40-acre piece in the hills of the Ohio River, sixty some miles east of Cincinnati, in Highland county. The nearest town is a crossroads place two miles away called Marshall and the nearest railroad town is Hillsboro, twelve miles way

She strikes me as a witty little slip of a thing, my grand-mother. The crow's feet around her eyes are the result of a continuous twinkle and laughter in the eyes themselves—continuous, I suppose, for the past eighty-five year or so. (She was born ninety years ago, in 1834.) A little while ago, when I saw her last, my wife and I drove 300 miles out of our way on a cross-country trip to spend the day with her. I wanted to see her myself, but mostly I wanted to show her off, and to let Gid, my wife, see at first-hand the soil I sprang from. I wanted to see for myself and to have her see the old homestead which my son's great grand-father built, which his grand-father was born in, which his great grand-mother still kept with happiness. I felt somehow that the sight of her and hers on the 40 acres of unproductive soil would fortify me against a life which sometimes baffles me: Just seeing her, talking to her, I thought would be a tonic for both of us. She means a great deal to me. She isn't a symbol of this country, but the country itself.

I confess to you that I have a somewhat sentimental picture of myself fighting the battle for existence against great odds, with the constant possibility of failure just around the corner. I look at my grand-mother and I see a person who has won this battle. She has her happiness at ninety. She has, then, what I want to have when I reach her age, and what I fear I may not have.

She is still supporting herself and having a good time at it. She is doing that on a piece of land that would be the death of me inside of two years—a death due to slow starvation! That land is poor, unfertilized, rocky. It cannot be farmed the way a European truck farmer handles land, making a fortune out of an even smaller area It has to be planted to oats, wheat, corn. There is no money in that when 10 bushels of wheat per acre would be a good crop.

My grand-mother has something I haven't. She makes a living, at ninety, out of those barren 40 acres(half wood lot) in a place where I would starve to death, and so would most farming men of my generation. In looking to see what that something may be I have been able to look at myself, a member of the youngest adult generation of to-day—to look at myself with new eyes. For, just as I hoped, my grand-mother was a tonic to me and to Gid.

We talked about it as we drove way from the farm, going back a full century to the beginnings which accounts for the difference that have puzzled me.

My grandmother Eve was born on an emigrants' boat on the Ohio River as her father and mother went down the river on their way from Pennsylvania. A little later my grandfather Cary came down to Cincinnati on the same highway. Unknown to each other both of them came out of the city by wagon to the neighborhood in which they lived all their lives.

When my grandfather was old enough to strike out for himself he made a clearing in the forest of hard wood (mostly black walnut), married Eve, and called upon the neighbors to help him through the housebuilding. They built a one-room log cabin with a big fireplace, without a cellar, and with an attic sleeping place above.

They started in to make a living off those rocky hills, and they succeeded in doing it, then as now, for seventy-five or eighty years. Those were the pioneers.

I suppose that for years on end no money passed through their hands. They had no need for a medium of exchange. They were not poor, but they did work hard. And when I say that they were not poor I mean that they had enough goods and food and shelter to be hospitable in a way that is, its seems, forever barred to me and to Gid. My father wrote to me:

"I can remember when we scarcely had a meal alone. This was because of good cooking, hospitality, and sociability. When I was last at home, from ten to fifteen years old, the table was always laden with fried chicken, cured meat, salted and smoked down with hickory; vegetables, butter, cream pies and cakes."

My grand-mother Eve had a lot to do, perhaps more then than she has now. She had three children. She did the milking and worked the garden then as she did this morning. She did all the housework. She took the wool off the backs of the sheep and turned out all the clothes for herself and the rest of the family. She carded and spun and wove. Ten years ago I watched her making new blankets on the old loom in the weaving house.

These blankets and clothes were not a nondescript gray-white in color. Nor did they buy German dyes for them. Father writes me: "The wool was dyed with black walnut-hull juice or log wood or madder. We have now in the house and in use blankets that were made at home forty years ago. During all this time that I have been married we have had a half dozen of them, always in use. Mother made many patchwork quilts, and also raised flax, weathered it to break down the woody tissue, prepared it, spun it, and wove it into tablecloths, two of which we still use here."

I have watched Eve make her own soap with wood ashes and animal fat. I presume she is making some now because the time I write is the season of the year when she puts up that marvelous pork tenderloin.

There were many trying incidents of the years. Eve was forever being injured, for instance. Once her arm was caught in a piece of machinery crushed and badly fractured. How many other times she broke a bone I don't know, but this last accident I remember because it took place when I was ten years old and she was seventy, but that was twenty or more years ago, and she got over it.

Two of her children died at home after long-drawn-out illnesses. One of them left a three-year-old when Eve was sixtyfive, and she insisted on bringing up this grandchild. Her mother lived with her, paralyzed for years before she died. But now things are simpler because the grandchil'd is an adult with wife and child. He comes over spring and fall to help her get the crops in and to harvest. She has more time to sit and stare off at the lovely purple hills she loves.

When I saw her last I discussed with her the farm depression of the past few years. "Crops have been bad elsewhere, I suppose?" she asked.

"Yes," I answered, "they've had a pretty tough time some places. Bankrupted a lot of them. But mostly the trouble has been low prices for crops and high prices for shoes and other things you buy."

She nodded her head and her eyes kept twinkling. "I've heard so," she said simply.

My discussion was of hardly more interest to her than it would have been had I discussed the copper market of those years. She had read about the depression, but if she had not read it she probably would not have known about it.

It affected her so slightly, much less than it did my business, which is concerned with pounding the typewriter in New York City.

In that forgotten corner of the bare hills of Ohio she had been living the same life, with modifications ever so slight, that she had lived fifty years ago. She has a well and a pump now where once she had to go to the spring for water. She has a telephone on a party line which costs two or three bushels of wheat a year.

She does not know that the productivity of the farms of the United States has increased ten times over in the past twenty years through the aid of machinery and specialization. Nor under any circumstances could I make her understand the life which I lead, and that means not only me but also the present generation of farmers. We have a new set of necessities. They are not necessities to her because she knows nothing of them. She has never turned on an electric light. She has never bathed in a tub. She has sharpened a scythe but she has never ground in the valves on her automobile engine.

Last summer I had a garden. (I live in a suburb of New York and commute every day farther than she has been from the farm in the past twenty years.) With a somewhat virtuous feeling I cultivated that little two-by-four plot myself. And as a whim I kept account of its cost to me and its reslut. At market prices in cash paid out I lost $3.24, although we greatly enjoyed some of the products fresh from the plot.

As a matter of fact, I am inclined to be a restless person. I don't care for the movies very much, or for traveling or for dining out at cabarets. But recently I went to the theater in New York, taking a couple of guests, and at current prices it cost me something more than my grand-mother's crop of wheat on that outside two-acre field brought last fall. I paid the other day $36 for a cord of wood which is being burned in our fireplace because we like to watch it burn.

The house is heated by a hot-water system, with a radiator in every room, that cost me $975 to install and burns $175 worth of anthracite each winter. We have two baths and an extra lavatory, although we could not sleep more people than my grand-mother could since they built the addition on the log house in 1868. The bed in the guest-room has a box spring and a hair mattress which I suppose cost about grand-mother's corn crop last fall, and it's a pretty cold proposition alongside the feather bed she sleeps on.

But I do not for one moment mean to moralize, and, if I go on in this vein, before I know it I shall be doing exactly that. My little tale about Eve is being told exclusively because it is the record of an eye-opening experience I had in taking Gid and myself down to see her. Gid and I are happy persons, plowing along with an ideal of success, finding it of course quite a battle. That is just what Eve was, and is. A happy person battling along to an ideal of success, with happiness of today as a cardinal requirement of life—if she can have it. She has it. We have it. She has had her bad moments; so have we. You see how I am torn between the amazing likenesses between Eve and her life and me and my life, and the amazing differences!

At the beginning I mentioned the fact the Eve has something which I haven't. It was that which I went to look for. That and the tonic effect.

Her life has been more ardous than mine. She has worked harder than I am required to work. But I saw that she was happy, and I knew from my own observation that she long had been. My father believes that she has always been a happy person. That is her success, for it is a happiness with contentment.

When I say that I envy her I become a little silly, for of course I cannot envy her. I cannot conceive of living the life she has lived. I think that for anyone other than a pioneer or a person of extremely odd temperament the days of her kind of life have gone—her life and contentment, that is. But I envy her the complete success she won in the art of living under what seem to me, a modern, desperate hardships.

So the seeing of her, the talking to her, was a tonic. It showed to me, brought it home hard, that hardship and fierce battling against the tide of life are not necessarily inimical to happiness. There it was. How could I help but see some of the values of that evident truth?

And what has she that I haven't?

I believe it is singleness of purpose, a sense of values.

Eve had a clear eye, unfogged as mine is by environment, at least relatively unfogged. She saw where she was going. She got what she wanted —a full life. She was a success. She is a success.

Perhaps I am wrong in thinking that her life has a direct criticism to make of mine. But to me no matter. Thinking of her down there in Ohio, admiring her so, as I do, gives me a little better grip.

Maybe there's a moral in this somewhere, but if there is you'll have to point it. I can't discover it. It is evident to me merely that Eve Cary has lived a full, rich life. To do as well myself I must be careful never to become mixed up about the fundamentals. The creature comforts to which I have become accustomed, the subway, automobile, radio standard of living may not be exactly an aid to living adequately. And possibly they are even a handicap.

IN MEMORY OF

Mrs. Harriett V. Bridwell, who entered into her Heavenly rest, February 26, 1924.

Just one year ago, our mother left us. "God's finger touched her and she slept." For her it was the the fulfillment of a wish oft expressed and the longing to be at home with her Lord and Master, who, for many years she had served so well. The depth of her faith is to those who are left, a blessed heritage and as we honor her memory, we realize more and more, the beauty of her character, felt, not only in the home but which shed its influence over all who knew her. To have borne and reared creditable sons and daughters—living a busy and useful life—active in her church—ever ready to minister to the sick and needy—thus it would seem that she had attained an abundant entrance into that kingdom not made with hands It is of sweet import to know that she sleeps the sleep, which on its awakening, brings one into a life which knows no cessation—eternal in the Heaven's.

"There is only rest and peace,
For the city of surcease;
From the failing and the wailing
Neath the sun.
And the wings of the swift years
Beat but quietly o'er the biers.

OBITUARY.

In the early morning of March 5, 1925, Edwin O. Hetherington answered the Master's call to enter into his Heavenly home.

Having been born in 1855 he was sixty-nine years of age. His childhood and youth were spent in Sugartree Ridge with his parents, George and Kasiah Hetherington, and three brothers and four sisters. Of the family the four sisters are still living: Mrs. Belle Osborne and Mrs. Nannie Sewell, of Hillsboro, and Mrs. Mary Kempf and Mrs. Maggie Stewart, of Milwaukee.

He was united in marriage to Miss Mary Armstrong at the M. E. parsonage at Hillsboro by the Rev. T. H. Pearne on Sept. 21, 1878. The first ten years of their married life they spent at Sugartree Ridge. In this time he joined the Hillsboro Lodge of Odd Fellows. When he was elected treasurer of Highland county he and Mrs. Hetherington moved to Hillsboro, where he has since made his home.

In January of 1908 he was bereaved by the death of his wife.

After coming to Hillsboro he was made a member of the Knights of Pythias and he always enjoyed the friendships and social relations of his lodge membership.

He joined the Methodist church when but 15 years of age and has always been a faithful member and an active Christian. For many years he has been a member of the official board of the church. He was especially interested in the young people and worked actively for their interests--having served a long period as teacher of a Sunday School class, as president of the Epworth League and later as assistant superintendent of the Sunday School. His voice was often heard in the church in prayer, testimony to his Christian faith and God's goodness to him, and in exhortation, until the past six years when his health has not permitted him to attend services regularly.

He studied God's word diligently and carefully and encouraged others to do so. When selecting a gift, especially for a young person, he usually gave a Bible and used his influence constantly toward making the world better.

Atfer finishing his second term as county treasurer, Mr. Hetherington went into the grocery business with his brother, Samuel, wtih whom he was associated until the failing health of the latter compelled him to retire. For the last four years he has been in partnership with L. L. Landess.

On Oct. 11, 1910 he married Miss Rebecca Parks, who has since been a faithful and loving companion, always doing everything possible for his comfort. His home life was exceptionally happy and peaceful for he was ever kind and thoughtful of others and a devoted husband.

Since an attack of the flu six years ago Mr. Hetherington's health has not been rugged but he kept at work most of the time. Wednesday he remarked that he did not feel very well and remained at home but did not complain, especially, and retired as usual at night to awaken in the Eternal Morning. He needed no last preparations as his life was lived in such a way as to fit him for a better land where his Savior had promised to prepare a place for him.

The funeral of E. O. Hetherington was held here Saturday afternoon and his body laid to rest in the cemetery here. He was for many years a resident of this place and had many friends here who have the deepest sympathy for the bereaved widow.

For over a year the health of Mrs. Lucas has been failing but she had been in a serious condition only a few days. On Thursday of last week she suffered a stroke of paralysis from which she never rallied. She is survived by her husband and six children, three daughters, Miss Rosetta, at home, Mrs. Loyal Dick, of Marshall, and Mrs. M. B. Doss, of Dayton, and three sons, Don, of Marshall, Walter, of Blanchester, and Homer, of Cincinnati. All of the children were here for the funeral

Today the lips that uttered words of joy and peace and hands that so lovingly and tenderly administered to her family, and loved ones, are sealed and stilled by death's cold icy touch. So ends the career of Lydia Smith, who was born near Hillsboro, May twenty-second, 1948, and passed away March sixteenth, 1925, at the age of seventy-six years, nine months and twenty-four days. She was the daughter of Eli and Catherine Wilkin, and was a member of a family of twelve children, eight of whom are living, three having preceded her in early childhood.

She was united in marriage to George W. Smith on the second day of November, 1865, to this union were born thirteen children, eleven of whom survive to mourn the loss of mother.

The first sorrow that came to this home was the death of Clara, who passed away in early childhood. Then on September nineteenth, 1897 the spirit of the husband and father took its flight to the realms beyond, leaving the wife and mother with the support and guidance of the family which she so nobly did through all these years.

Then in 1910 another vacant chair was formed at the fireside when the spirit of Eva, a darling daughter and sister winged its flight to the God who gave it.

In early life Mother united with the Reformed Church at Mt. Zion and in June 1869 she transferred her membership to the Christian Church at Fairview during the pastorate of P. W. Sheak, and has ever since that time lived a life consistent with her early vows.

She manifested a beautiful Christian character all through her life and was gentle in disposition, patient under trying circumstances and in afflictions, kindly disposed and helpful to all her friends, a good neighbor, and beloved by all.

Mother will be sadly missed and especially by the five grandchildren, who deemed it such a privilege to go to the old home to be in her presence and enjoy her companionship.

Her home was a home of boundless hospitality and was shared equally as much by strangers as by her closest friends. It was her greatest aim in life to live for her family and friends and give them all the comforts and necessities of life, and it will be in the home circle that they will miss Mother's cheerful smile and words of counsel, but God in his wisdom has seen fit to sever the tender ties that united this happy family circle, and to remove an affectionate mother from their midst.

Flint Rockhold suffered an attack of heart trouble Wednesday afternoon and died instantly. He was at work cleaning the lawn of his home on W. South street, when he was stricken and had been dead from one to two hours when he was found by his wife. His clothes had caught fire from leaves he was burning which had spread to where he had fallen and his hands had been burned.

About 2:30 Wednesday afternoon Mr. Rockhold left the house to work at cleaning the large grove around the house. He set fire to the leaves and there were a umber of places on the lawn where it could be seen that he had been working. Mrs. Rockhold had seen him several times during the afternoon. She was surprised when he had not returned to the house at supper time and shortly after six o'clock went to look for him. She foune nim lying on the ground dead a short distance from the house. The fire from the burning leaves had spread to where the body was lying and his clothes had caught on fire. Mrs. Rockhold smothered the fire in his clothes and then telephoned to her neighbors for help. The body was carried to the house and a physician summoned who stated that he had been dead at least an hour.

Mr. Rockhold was 72 years of age. He was a retired merchant. For a number of years he was engaged in the hardware business with his brother, the late Austin Rockhold, and later conducted a grocery. His health failing he had retired from business. His sudden death was a great shock as he had been up town that morning and was apparently as well as usual and many people having seen him could hardly believe it when the news of his death spread.

The funeral services were held at the home on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by Rev. Hoffman; burial in the Hillsboro cemetery. Angeline Milburn, youngest daughter of Daniel and Esther Ann Milburn, was born near Belfast, Ohio, May 21, 1853 and arose above the cares of this life on the morning of March 25, 1925 at the age of seventy-one years, ten months and four days. On May 27, 1874 she was made one with Albert Whitmer Lucas with whom she lived in happy comradeship for over half a century, having celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last May.

This marriage was made more happy by the arrival of seven children, four boys and three girls. The second son, Elroy Herbert, preceded her on August 28, 1913 to that beautiful country beyond. She is survived by her husband, two sisters, six children and thirteen grandchildren.

She had scarcely outgrown babyhood until she accepted Jesus as her Lord and Saviour and throughout her life He was her constant Friend and Guide.

No one ever knew her wilfully to do or say anything which was not in harmony with the will of this Guide and Counselor.

At an early age she zecame a member of the Methodist Episcopal church of Belfast, Ohio, but later transferred her allegiance to the church of her husband's choice, the Christian Union of Marshall, Ohio, to which she remained faithful until she went to join the church triumphant.

Her retiring nature did not permit her to have intimate friends outside the family, so that only a few could adequately know and appreciate the real beauty of her character.

She was never known to speak ill of anyone or to interfere in the affairs of another in any way, being constantly thoughtful of others and ready to subordinate her needs and interests to those of others.

There was no task too difficult or no hardship too great for her to undertake for her family and friends as she busied herself in their welfare.

Her ambition in life was to live so it might truly be said of her, "She hath done what she could."

If things went wrong, she lost no valuable time worrying, but began to plan for the future by trying to see what could be done about it.

As she went about her work she was accustomed to sing many of the old familiar hymns of the heavenly home and the happy assurances of the christian faith.

Many times since his death she spoke of "Roy" and the happy prospect of being reunited with him.

The companionship and understanding between Roy and his mother was so sacred and perfect during his life, that it is happy to think of mother being the first to join him.

Hers was a beautiful life. Thinking never of self—always of others—obscure to the world—she was content to live in untiring devotion to a great cause—that of maintaining an ideal christain home and giving to the world a family of young men and women who had been carefully shown the true way of life.

No mother was ever a truer mother and no mother was ever more watchful about the training of her children.

In the words of the writer of old, "Her children arise up and call her blessed her husband also, he praiseth her."

Daughter, sister, wife and mother,
Friend and neighbor to toiling brother,
Full measure of love on each bestowing,
Coals of selfsacrifice on her altar glowing,
Living to love and loving to live,
Faith, hope and comfort to all she doth give
Though sorrow far greater than mine have bereft her,
They robed her sweet spirit in far purer luster,
And since earth's joys, toils and tears are all over,
Near the Golden door will she hover,
Till the dear ones are all gathered home.

MEMOIR.

Mary Magdalene Fender, daughter of John and Catherine Fender, was born near Taylorville, Ohio, Feb. 7, 1843. Her long and useful life came to an end at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Sanders, not far from her birthplace, on the morning of April 7, 1925, at the age of 82 years, and 2 months.

She was a member of a family of ten children, seven sisters and three brothers. Two sisters, Mrs. Catherine Carr, of Taylorsville, and Mrs. Millie Moberly, of Buford, Ohio, and one brother, J. Frank Fender, of Taylorsville, Ohio, survive.

She was united in marriage to Geo. W. Carr, December 26, 1861. To this union were born five children, Louella (Mrs. L. E. Roberts), Anna C., (Mrs. W. D. Sanders), Jennie M., Franklin C. and Harry H Carr, two of whom, Jennie M and Franklin C, and the "father and husband" have preceded her to their eternal home.

In early life she united with the Church of Christ, worshiping at Union. While we do not have the exact date of her acceptance of her Lord, our oldest Church Record shows that she was one of the number who met at the Church April 18, 1857 and participated in the making of a new record to take the place of the old one which had become misplaced or lost, and in the selection of officers to serve the Congregation, Aunt Mary, as she was affectionately called by all who knew her well, has been privileged to travel a long distance on the pathway of life and we can truthfully say that she has made it a life of extreme usefulness. She was a kind and loving wife and mother, a considerate, helpful neighbor, a true friend, a loyal devoted Christian, ever zealous for the welfare of her home, her Church and her Community. She has left the greatest heritage possible in the truthful saying that, "She lived a life of service."

Even though she was privileged to live some twelve years longer than the allotted "three score and ten," her kind acts and deeds and sincere Christian character, will still live on and be an influence for good in the lives of all who knew her well.

The entire community bows its head in sorrow, and joins with the two daughters, the son, eight grandchildren, one brother and two sisters in mourning her loss. We shall miss her:

"Yet God has said, 'thy course is fun',
And we feel sure that he knew best,
When he said 'Thy work is done,
Come and I will give thee rest."

Since near at need the angels are;

He left Los Angeles Monday, April 27, taking the route through Flagstaff, Arizona, Santo Fe, New Mexico, over the pass at Rattoon, Colorado, to Kansas City, Mo., and thence via St. Louis, Indianapolis, and Dayton to Hillsboro, arriving Monday, May 4.

Ralph talks very interestingly about his remarkable trip on which he avereged 335 miles per day, doing all the driving himself. He had a companion as far as Santa Fe, coming the rest of the trip alone. The scenery along parts of the route was marvelous, he says, and will well repay anyone making the trip. He encountered snow in places but found the roads uniformly good with the exception of about 60 miles on the Eastern border of California.

Henry Samuel Foraker, son of Jacob and Christena Foraker, was born on Christmas day, December 25, 1842, and passed to his reward on the afternoon of April 23, 1925, aged 82 years, 3 months and 28 days.

Practically all of his life has been spent in this vicinity where his genial nature and kindly deeds had endeared him to old and young alike and in his death the community has lost a good citizen, kind neighbor and genial companion, one whose happy disposition made him welcome in any circle.

In early life he became identified with the M. E. Church and he was a regular attendant at all the means of grace until failing health and especially loss of hearing rendered him unfit to enjoy the services.

On December 1st, 1864 he was united in marriage to Lydia Ann Cooper, of Dover, Delaware, and to this union six children were born, two of whom, Maggie and Theodocia, together with the devoted wife, have preceded him to the better world. Eliza Gertrude, of Washington, C. H., Joseph, of Cincinnati Oliver, of Cynthiana and John, of Rainsboro are left to mourn his loss, besides 12 grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren. After the death of his wife which occured on February 5, 1908, the old home was broken up and for four years he lived with his son, Oliver, at the old Foraker homestead, and then he retired from his active farm life and came to the village of Rainsboro to live with his son, John, where he has lived for the last twelve years. About two months ago he went to Washington, C. H., to live with his daughter, Gertrude, and to be convenient to the doctor of whom he was taking treatment. He was apparently in his usual health and was planning to come back home today (Sunday) little thinking his lifeless form would make the journey to which he was looking forward.

On last Thursday afternoon, he accompanied his granddaughter, Mrs. Florence Garrett, to Columbus, and was delighted with the trip. Oter returning he complained of being tired and laid down to rest and almost immediately "the silver cord was loosed" and his spirit took its flight.

She united with the Christian Church at Miller's Chapel several years ago, under the leadership of Rev. Bowman.

She was a woman of simple tastes and habits, who went through life doing what good she could for others, and was noted for her sincerity and honesty of purpose.

OBITUARY.

"Sweet face of age—
Thou lookest out on life full trustingly;
Yet thou hast known the darkest mysteries
Which compass and ensnare the souls of men.
For thou regardest all the woes of life
As but blows which call the statue forth
From out the marble; thou hast learned
That fire consumes the dross, refines the gold;
And thou hast found at last behind it all
Infinite love and wisdom infinite,
Till now thou standest face to face with God."

Margaret Ann Kerns McLaren was born in Highland County, Ohio, October 15, 1833, and died in the early morning of April 25, 1925, aged 91 years, 6 months and 10 days.

The span of her life covered a period of almost a century of the world's greatest achievement in invention and scientific research. She recalled the days of the stage coach, went from place to place in the community and in adjoining counties on horse back, walked with a company of young people to see the first train come into Leesburg, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, noted the improvements in modes of travel, enjoyed riding in the modern horseless carriages and viewed the flying machines as only another advance in transportation. She lived from the days of the tallow dip to the electric light. She remembered when the arrival of the weekly mail was an exciting occasion, when important messages were conveyed by person. She marveled when code messages were sent by wire from continent to continent. She carried on conversations over teh telephone and a few months ago listened to the human voice coming through the air thousands of miles. She was not inclined to cling to old customs or old memories. And while she treasured the friendship of old associates, when they passed on or out of her life she made new friends. Her ready wit, her keen sense of humor her sympathetic nature and her unusual interest in things modern made her a person of interest and an object of affection to those who passed her way. She was a member of the Friends Church with an abiding faith and trust in God.

Her father's family came from Pennsylvania and her mother's from Maryland to Highland County in the early part of the last Century. Her paternal grandfather was a Pennsylvania soldier in the Revolutionary war. She was one of eleven children. One sister, Rachel McCoy, the youngest of this family survives her.

January 11, 1855 Margaret Ann Kerns was married to Thomas McLaren and for sixty-three years they traveled life's pathway together, but June 10, 1918 God called, and the bond was broken, the husband passed on.

After their marriage they lived one year in Cleveland. Most of the remainder of her life was spent in the Samantha neighborhood, the last fifty years in the home where she passed away. From the beginning, the generosity and hospitality extended in their home was limited only by necessity. Relatives, friends, even strangers found an open door and a cheerful welcome. To the last she was concerned and solicitious for the material comfort of those who came to the home. For many years she was a semi-invalid and for the past two and one half years had left her bed only when carried. During the long years of her invalidism she was the object of the devoted attention of her husband and children. Of recent years she had the constant, tender care of her daughter, Sallie.

She was the mother of ten children, four died in early childhood; one daughter, Mrs. Alonzo Wilson, departed this life August 25, 1914; two sons, Wallace and Roy, and three daughters, Sarah, Catherine, Margaret Elton and Josephine Batson, are left to revere here memory.

"Fold her, O Father, in thine arms
And let her henceforth be
A messenger of love between
Our human hearts and Thee."

OBITUARY.

Margaret Smith McCreight, daughter of John and Margaret Smith, was born July 15, 1875, at Lerado, Clermont county, Ohio. She grew into a beautiful and helpful young womanhood being one of five rarely congenial sisters, her passing being the first break among them. All but one being with her during her last illness.

August 7, 1904 she was happily married to William G. McCreight and their married life was an ideal one. He runselfish devotion to and care for her husbands' little motherless daughter, Grace, was a high tribute to her innate Christian character. Four children were given her the twin of Charles Jr. died in infancy. Regina, who will take her place as homekeeper and two sons, John and Charles, Jr. with Grace are left to follow the upright teachings of one of the best of mothers.

Busily engaged with her loved home duties she gave little sign of her daily sufferings from that dread disease neuritis but ever had a welcome smile for family and friends. About two weeks ago she has to give up as her heart had become strongly affected. Though she made a valiant fight and had the most highly skilled medical attention it was all in vain and in the first hour of Aug. 11, 1925 "God touched her and she slept" free of pain and quietly passed into the life Beyond and saw the face of her divine Master who she had long loved and served unseen. Clean souled she entered God's presence for she was a true Christian. She had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for many years and was also a loyal member of the Woman's Relief Corps. Her loyalty of purpose and constant faithfulness to Life's duties endeared her to all who knew here.

She leaves to cherish her memory and to remember her fine life ner loved husband and children, Mrs Grace Shaffer, Miss Regina, who will become the homekeeper, John and Charles, Jr., of Hilsiboro, four sisters, Mrs. B. F. Van Kirk, Island Hts., New Jersey, Mrs. G. A. Buchanan, Cincinnati, Ohio, Mrs Charles Ingle, Lerado, Ohio, Miss Lottie Smith, Lynchburg, Ohio, R. Wife, Mother, Sister, Friend.

It means but little just to say
That "she is dead". Her sun has set,
But over all the vaulted sky
Her stars of love are shining yet.

I see her in each blooming flower
She walks with me most constantly
I hear her in the pine tree's song,
She whispers in each breeze to me.

We should not mourn because she died
No thought of her should make us sad,
We should rejoice because she lived
To make our lives more true and glad.

Deep in our hearts we feel the glow
Of love she kindled, and the sun
Will shine more brightly through the year
Because her work was nobly done.

OBITUARY OF CLIFFORD LANDEN.

Clifford, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Landen, was born Oct. 24, 1895 near Midland City, Clinton County, Ohio. and met his tragic death together with his friend, Miss Mary Burnett, when they were both drowned in the Mami River near Middletown, Ohio, Sunday, June 7, 1925. Clifford and Miss Burnett were to be married in the near future. He was twenty-nine years, seven months and thirteen days of age.

Clifford had been away from his community about nine years, having lived in Middletoown where he was employed He graduated from the Armco Mechanical School, Middletown as an honor student, June 15, 1920, and has been a very successful mechanic. He took great interest in his work.

He was a member of the Order of Odd Fellows, Hope Lodge, No. 16 at Middletown. He was also a member of the Encampment and Cantonment of that Order where he was very active. He was a member of Rebecca Lodge No. 610 at Buford, Ohio. He was also a member of The Ohio Federation of Foreman's Club.

Clifford was one of a large family, there being twelve children. This is the second time that the family circle has been broken by death. A sister. Florence Elizabeth, preceded him on May 12, 1906.

He is survived by a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Landen, of Buford, O., seven sisters Mrs. Clarence Hunter, Logan, O., Mrs, T. E. Donohoo Buford, O., Mrs. J. E. Gossett, Nampa, Idaho, Mrs. C. L. Robbins, Sardinia, O., Silva M., Ada M. and Doris M., of Buford, Ohio, three brothers, B. W. Landen, Pricetown, Ohio, Corwin Landen, Buford, Ohio, and H. P. Landen Los Angeles, Calif., and a host of friends who mourn his death.

His untimely death was not only a shock to his family but to the entire communities of both Buofrd and Middletown where he was well known and held as an esteemed citizen.

These tragic deaths of both Clifford Landen and Miss Mary Burnett remind us most forcibly of the uncertainity of life. We are compelled to say with the Prophet: "As for man his days are as grass; as a flower of the field so he flourisheth, for the wind passeth over it and it is gone and the place thereof shall know it no more. But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him."

IN THE MEMORY OF OUR FATHER

Denson Jacob Ladd, wno died June 14, 1921. Four long years have passed away.

A precious one from us has gone
A voice we loved is stilled.
A place is vacant in our hearts

Scarcely knowing where we tread
We may laugh with those about us
But our hearts are with the dead.

Oh Boy! Swimming

Blaine Nichols, 40, colored, was struck by lightning Monday afternoon while hauling wheat on one of the farms of J. W. Evans on the New Vienna pike. He died Tuesday morning at four o'clock in the Hillsboro Hospital without regaining consciousness. One of the horses hitched to the wagon he was driving was killed instantly. Nichols was a tenant on the farm of Homer West and the horse killed belonged to West.

The accident occurred at 12:45 Monday afternoon. The men had just returned to the field after dinner when a storm came up. Ed. Dines, manager of the farm, was near the threshing outfit. Nichols was hauling wheat from the shock to the threshing machine. John Evans, a neighbor, was also helping with threshing and he was on a wagon a short distance from Nichols when he was struck. He told a representative of the NEWS-HERALD Monday afternoon that he was looking at Nichols when the lightning struck him and the substance of his account of the accident follows:

They had returned to the field after dinner and were getting ready to load the wagons when the storm came up Mr. Evans was standing beside his wagon looking toward the wagon which Nichols was driving. Nichols was standing on the wagon when there came a sharp flash of lightning. The lightning struck Nichols and he fell from the wagon. It looked like he dived off the wagon and fell on the ground about twelve feet away. Mr. Evans ran to him at once. He was lying on his back and his eyes were glassy. Mr. Dines was soon there. Both men thought that Nichols was dead but at once hurried to the house and telephoned for a physician.

When the flash of lightning came both horses hitchel to the wagon fell to the ground. One of them was killed instantly. In a few minutes the other horse began to struggle and got up and is apparently none the worse for its experience.

Mr .Nichols was rushed to the Hillsboro Hospital in the machine of Mr. Dines and was given every medical attention. But nothing could be done for him and he died at four o'clock Tuesday morning.

Dr. Maurice Hoyt was the physician in charge of the case. He said that here were several places on the body of Nichols where the flesh was seared by the lightning; that these places were apparently under where he had metal in his clothing; that there were places on his chest under his suspender buckles, back of his watch and on one leg under the pocket in which he carried his knife. The Doctor said that he could smell the burned flesh when he first examined the man. The watch of Nichols had stopped at 1:13 He had it set for sun time and this is thought to have been when the lightning struck him . Nichols was wearing a large straw hat and it was torn to shreds.

Nichols is survived by his widow. The funeral services were held at Carmel, his old home, on Wednesday.

Mr. Dines had insurance on all of his men and while Nichols was not in his employ regularly it is believed that under the workmen's compensation act that his widow will get the insurance

On October 7th 1886 she was united in marriage with Thomas B. Cunningham. To this happy union three children came to bless their most hospitable home ,two sons, John and Vernon, who have preceded the mother, and one daughter, Martha Cunningham Smith, who was at her side when death came.

At the tender age of 16 she identified herself with the Prospect M. E. Church in which she has ever been a most consistent, loyal and devout member. She was an active worker in all church services and especially interested in the W. C. T. U. and Missionary societies.

"To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die."

It has been the good fortune and pleasure of the writer of this sketch to have known this good woman. As a neighbor she was kind and consoling; As a friend loyal and true and as a wife and mother unparalleled and unsurpsced in attention, care, love and devotion. Yes! truly will she live in hearts left behind—A great legacy to mortal man—the touch of a noble life. Her life speaks for itself, words fail to portray its beauty and useulness. Nay it suffices to say that in the passing of this wife and mother to her just reward, the family realizes a vacancy that can ne'er be filled, the church feels the loss of a loyal and philanthropic member and the community notes with sadness the absence of a most genial and affable neighbor and a kind and sincere friend.

The departed is survived by husband, daughter, mother and two sisters, Mrs. Geo. M. Ballentine, of Hillsboro, Ohio, and Mrs. A. E. Pavey, of Wing, N Dakota.

Descendants of Alexander Meharry, who met a tragic death near New Market in 1813, are anxious to get in touch with anyone who can furnish them with a complete account of how it happened. Two of his grand-children, Charles L. Meharry, of Attica, Ind., and Mrs. Fred S. Haven, of 810 West Oregon, Street, Urbana, Ill., were at New Market Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Bell in search of information.

The story of the death of Alexander Meharry as his descendants have it is as follows:

Mr. Meharry attended a camp meeting in New Market and while at the meeting had a presentiment that his end was near and speaking at the meeting had said that this was probably the last time he would meet with them. After the meeting as he was going home about two miles south of New Market, a large limb of a tree which hung across the road fell without any apparent cause and struck him, killing him.

If there is anyone who can furnish any further information in regard to the accident, his descendants will greatly appreciate it if they will notify them or Mr. Bell, who will get in touch with them. Mr. Meharry and Mrs. Haven thought maybe the story had been handed down through some family or that there might be some record of it in some family and if so they are most anxious to get the account of the event.

A little more than 55 years ago there came into the home of Geo. and Margaret Ellis, near Dodsonville, Ohio, a little daughter, to whom they gave the name of Margaret Josephine. Four years later the Death Angel entered this same home,, and this ltitle girl together with two elder sister and one brother were bereft of a mother's love and devotion.

But loving hearts and homes of relatives were opened nad she grew to womanhood in the community in which she was born. Here she accepted the faith and became a member of the M. E. Church in Dodsonville, soon afterwards going to Hillsboro, where for a number of years she made her home with an aunt, Mrs. Mary Kramer.

Oct. 14th, 1894 she was happily married to John Purdy, of New Market, Ohio, to whom she has been both faithful and devoted. Soon after their marriage they removed to Cincinnati, where in the early morn of Aug. 1st, 1925, after an illness of three months duration, she passed to eternal rest.

"Oh call it not death, it is life begun
When the waters are passed, the port is won.
When the ransomed spirit has reached the shore
Where they weep and suffer and sin no more.

"When the battle is fought, when the struggle is o'er,
When the crown replaces the cross they bore.
When the pilgrim path shall no more be trod
A rest remains for the people of God."

Mary Elizabeth Haywood was born near Jasper, Pike county, Dec. 22, 1857 and departed this life in her home near Rainsboro, August 4, 1925 aged 67 years, 7 months and 12 days.

She was a daughter of George and Mary Jane Cooper and one of a family of six children.

She was married to Jospeh Haywood, September 17, 1884, and to this union were born five children, Bessie Ault and Leslie Haywood, of Rainsboro, James Haywood, of Norwood, Frank Haywood, of Marshall, and Alva Haywood, of Zanesville, Ohio. Besides the husband and children she leaves seven grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Etta Garen, of Marshall.

She joined the Friends Church at Fall Creek a number of years ago and always enjoyed attending church service when health permitted. Though cumbered with care and the many household duties she found time to visit the sick and lend a hand in any way she could. She was kind to the poor and ever ready to help the needy.

She had been in failing health for several months but was able to walk about her home until one week ago she was forced to give up and go to bed.

After this her condition grew rapidly worse and she suffered extreme pain but bore it all with a wonderful fortitude until at 8 o'closk on Tuesday evening August 4, the gates of Heaven opened and her weary spirit winged its flight.

She was a good woman and many will miss her cheerful voice and kindly deeds but in the home where husband and children and grandchildren often gather her loss can not be measured.

Mrs. Lizzie H. Free died at the Greenfield Hospital last Tuesday evening. The funeral services were held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carey Stultz, Thrusday.

CONNOR DUNLAP.

Harley Connor Dunlap, son of Harley Dunlap and Katherine Connor Dunlap, was born at Washington, C. H., Ohio, Sept. 2nd, 1900, and died at Hillsboro, Ohio, at 3 o'clock p. m., August 11th, 1925.

His earlier years were spent at Washington, C. H., and while a lad, he was a member of the Boys Scouts, and in later years he became a member of the Grace M. E. Church of that city, and was also identified with the Y. M. C. A. At the time of his death he was a member of the M. E. Church of Hillsboro.

He was married to Ruth Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Kelly, on the 11th day of January, 1922. To them was born a daughter, little Mary Katherine, now aged two years, to whom her father was very devoted, and who, because of her childish years does not realize the loss she has sustained.

After their marriage they lived for a time at Hillsboro, but about one year ago, removed to Chicago, where Connor became cattle salesman for Mr. John J. Lawler, one of the large live stock dealers of that city. About five weeks ago, Mr. Dunlap came to Hillsboro very ill, and from the date of his arrival until his death was confined to his bed. His disease proved to be typhoid fever, and he was nursed with all loving kindness and tenderness possible, at the home of Mr. Kelly until last Friday when it was deemed advisable to remove him to the Hillsboro Hospital, at which place he breathed his last.

Connor was very much interested in his position at Chicago, and his one desire was to be able to get back to his work. His employer, Mr. Lawler has during his entire illness shown his regard for him, and his solicitude as to his condition, writing to him every week, and expressing his earnest desire that he would soon be restored to health. Upon receipt of news of his death, his employer telegraphed that a representative of the Stock Yards would be present at the funeral.

His kindly interest will always be remembered by those whom Connor loved, an despecially by Mrs. Dunlap.

Mr. Dunlap leaves surviving him, his little daughter, his mother and one sister.

Taken from among us when, after a struggle, his position and success seemed assured, called away when all that life holds dearest incites the desire to stay, we are left, confronted with the great mystery of Death, and indeed, see "through a glass darkly" and con only leave all to the One in whose keeping the mysteries of both life and death must forever rest.

Capt. Kennedy had lived in Hillsboro most of his life. He engaged in varous mercantile businesses and for many years was a mail carrier on one of the rural routes. He was a veteran of the Civil War.

It was the pleasure of the writer to know Capt. Kennedy well for many years. He was a man of high character, kindly and generous, a wonderful neighbor. He had a friendly greeting for everyone and had a great fund of humorous stories which he told well.

Arthur, son of William and Rachel A. Mercer, was born Sept. 21st, 186t, and departed this life at his late residence near Belfast, Ohio, July 31st, 1925, aged 63 years, 10 months and 10 days.

Having been reared in a christian home, he identified himself with the Union Chapel M. P. Church in his boyhood and was happily converted under the pastorate of Rev. Rash, since which time he had frequently been heard to say "I am ready to go."

"In the midst of life we are in death,
We know not the day nor the hour
when the son of man shall appear."

It therefore behooves mortal man to be ready,

"For who so findeth me findeth life,
and shall obtain favor of the Lord."

To his family, relatives and friends this good man who slept peacefully out into the fields elysian in the nighttime, has left the greatest earthly inheritance, in that it can be truthfully said he was a good man honest frugal, ambitious, indusfrious-but mere words fail-may it suffice to say that in him were embodied all the noble attributes requisite for true manliness and genuine citizenship.

Lulu May Walker, daughter of Henry and Rebecca Walker, was born March 10th, 1883, and departed this life August 24th, 1925, aged 42 years, 5 months and 14 days.

She was united in marriage to Lewis A. Fenner August 9th, 1900; to this union were born 4 children, 3 sons, Loyd, Celo and Dorsey Fenner, and the infant daughter, Helen Pauline Fenner.

Besides these she leaves a bereaved husband and a little adopted daughter, Mamie Fenner; also 4 sisters, Mrs. Mary Jane King Mrs. Nellie King, Miss Myrtle Walker and Miss Rissa Walker, 6 brothers, Isaac, Oliver, Bert, Frank, Charles and Rev. John Walker, of Logan, Ohio. She also had two little grandchildren.

Lulu's life was truly religious; she had been a Christian since in early girlhood ,joining the Christian church at that place in old Danville. Later in life she with her husband became members of the U. B. Church in East Danville under the pastorate of the Rev. Scoville.

She was a womann of prayer and faith, and the doors of Sonner's Chapel were seldom opened for services but she was there. She kept up the habit of church attendance until affliction inetrvened. She was a true wife and mother in her own home, and truly in the last days, many will rise up and call her "Blessed."

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at Sonner's Chapel, East Danville. The Rev. E. R. Robinette pastor, conducting the funeral services, assisted by the Rev. Bell, Baptist pastor of New Market, and Rev. Burley Carrier, of Gary, Ind. Burial was made in the Hamer township cemetery.

OBITUARY.

Martha Lucas, daughter of Richard and Mary Lucas, was born June 29th, 1838 and died August 29th, 1925, aged 87 years, and 2 months.

Of a family of six sisters and two brothers only one remains, Mrs. Rachel Hatcher. Her mother, living until the remarkable age of 101, has been gone but a few years.

February 2nd, 1860 she was united in marriage to Samuel Wolfe and for 52 years they traveled life's highway together. All their married life was spent in Highland county near the scene of her birth place. To this union were born nine children. All grew to manhood and womanhood when at different times five were taken away, Cyrus, Charles, Elizabeth, Anna and Jennie. The living ones are Mrs. Viola Daniels, of Plymouth, Ind., Leslie, of Byrone, Ill., Mrs. Edith Shoemaker, and William, of near Hillsboro; also nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

On August 28th, 1912 the companion of over half a century was suddenly removed by death ,and she has spent her remaining years with her daughter, Edith, often visiting the other children and her numerous friends.

In the year 1899 she united with the M. E. Church at Boston and has since continued a faithful member of the same church. "Aunt Martha", as she was familiarly called by her friends and neighbors, was blest with a jovial disposition through her long life, and the attendant hardships of rearing a large family, and the taking away of so many of them at such an early age, she did not despair, but trusted in the only One who could help her and found peace and joy in doing for herself and others. All who have known her will never forget her smile, the amusing sayings, the ability to make other forget their own troubles even though her own burdens may have been heavier. Until the past month she was able to go about among her own friends and enjoyed long excursions to new places. For three weeks she has been confined to the house and at times her sufferings were intense, but after her toil and pain she has reached

Of our dear brother, Clifford Lee Marconett, who died Sept. 10, 1924.

Dear brother, since you have left us
One sad year has passed away;
And to say how much we miss you
Words, no words can ever say.

'Tis sad to think that you are gone
When all around we see
The good deeds that you've done in life
So little done for thee.

We know the day can bring no cheer
Because it brings not you.
The world has many joys, 'tis true
But there was only one of you.

'Tis sweet to know we shall meet you
On that heavenly shore.

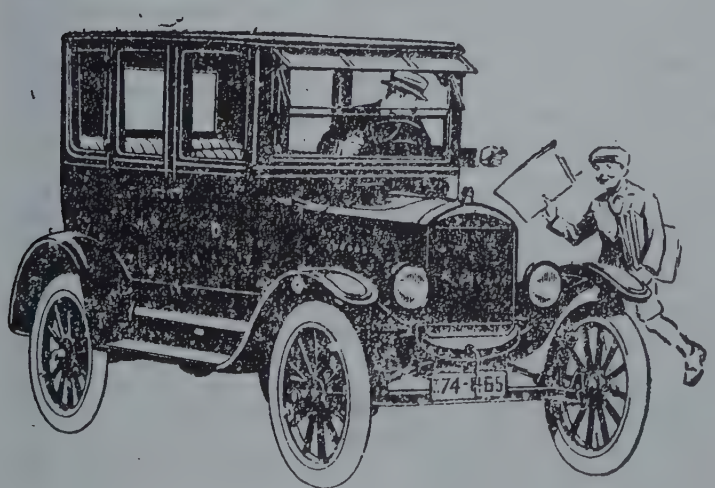

James Everett Gossett, son of Wyat Henry and Margaret Finnegan Gossett, was born in Clay township, Highland county, March 28, 1893 and departed this life at Nampa, Idaho, July 16 1925. He was third to the oldest in a family of five boys. In the winter of 1920 his entire family was almost wiped out during that terrible epidemic of influenza. His brother, Frank, died on Jan. 29; Ovid, Feb. 12; Ward, Feb. 23; his mother Feb. 13; Ovid's wife and small child on the same date. The whole community was shocked by the misfortune that visited the Gossett home at that time.

Everett was married to Miss Callie Landen on Nov. 7, 1917, who has been his sympathetic and helpful co-worker ever since. She has stood by his side in every trial and throughout all his sickness. He lived most of his life in this immediate community and only moved away in search of a climate that would help him in the recovery of his health. On Sept. 10, 1924 he left for Nampa, Idaho, where he lived until he answered the summons of the Eternal on July 16, 1925.

It has been reported that while in the West, he was in such a poor state of health that it was necessary for him to spend much of his time in the hospital. This was not the case, outside of going to the hospital occasionally for an examination, he only spent the last few days of his life in the hospital, where he went for an operation hopng that it might save his life.

Everett is survived by his wife, his little daughter, Betty Jean, a nephew, who lived with him, a brother, Charles of Nampa, Idaho, and a host of other relatives and friends who live to mourn his loss.

Early in life he confessed Christ and became a member of the Christian Church at Hollowtown, where he has been a consistent member. He was also a member of the Buford Lodge of Odd Fellows No. 600. Everett was well known in this entire community and was held in high esteem by all his neighbors and friends.

He was on the right side of every moral issue, and his life was an example of good citizenship.

She was the fifth in a family of twelve children, ten of whom, Lillie Maud Boatman, of Samantha, Marguerite Stréber, Hillsboro, Jennie Streber, Hillsboor, Branson VanZant, Seaman, Edna McCall, Seaman, Dewein C. VanZant, Springfield, Walter VanZant, Marshall, Mora VanZant, Peebles, Johnnie VanZant, New York and Goldie McCoy, Seaman, together with ftaher and stepmother are grievin gtoday over the loss of their loved one.

Twice before had the grim reaper invaded the family circle. In 1904 when the sister, Ida Blanche, was taken, and again Dec. 12, 1910 when the mother answered the final call.

Hazel was united in marriage to Richard Peabody, Aug. 1st, 1908 and from that time on to the close of life was ever a true and devoted helpmate. Three children came to bless their home, James Enos, Herman Richards and Mildred Truth.

While yet in her early teens Hazel gave her heart to God and united with the Christian Union Church at Pleasant but later transferred her membership to the M. E. Church at Rainsboro, where she endeavored to serve her master faithfully. She loved the services of the church and Sunday School and made many sacrifices that her children might be trained in the habit of attendance at the services that were so dear to her heart. She was truly a good woman, loved and respected by everyone, and her going throws a pall of gloom and sadness over many homes.

Her worth to the community can not be computed as she was always smiling, always sympathetic, always ready to help whenever needed. Many a burdened heart has been made lighter because of her smiles and cheerful optimism.

She had burdens and problems of her own that might well have caused her heart to grow faint, but she met them with a fortitude that would have done credi to a Spartan and never murmured nor complained.

What a beautiful life! Her going leaves a void in the community that will be hard to fill but it is in the home where aged grandmother, husband and children miss her welcoming smile and listen in vain for her cheery words that her loss will be felt the keenest.

A few days previous to her death, she sent for her niece, Miss Beryl Streber, to assist her in her household duties, little thinking she would be needed to comfort her and her loved ones when she was crossing the river of death.

Last Thursday she went about her active duties in her usual happy mood and retired at night apparently in the best of health. A half hour later she was taken violently ill and suffered intensely for several hours.

Just as day was breaking at five o'clock on Friday morning, Sept. 25, tightly clasping the hands of husband and niece as though she would fain take them with her to the Master's feet, she passed to the great beyond.

We wonder why anyone so useful was taken from our midst.

"God moves in a mysterious way his wonders to perform and we can only wait with bowed heads and saddened hearts until some day he will make it plain and then we'll understand.

Hannah E., oldest daughter of J. J. and Mary McFadden Grove, was born January 16, 1871, and after a short illness all that medical skill and careful nursing could do avialeth not, and in the early morning hours of September 26, 1925, with husband and daughters by her bedside she quietly and peacefully passed away.

On August 16, 1890, she was united in marriage to Frank Bayhan and for thirty-five years they have walked the pathway of life, hand in hand, shoulder to shoulder, in sorrow and gladness, in sickness and health, in adversity and prosperity they were one.

She has been a member of the Christian Church since early girlhood and although not of the demonstrative type she has always lived a true Christian life, the memory of which, will remain in the hearts of all who knew here.

She possessed a sense of humor that lightened many a dark place, saved many a heart-ache and made warm friends of acquaintances. She was one who always looked on the bright side of things, however hard the work or how dark things seemed to look. Full of ambition, radiating good cheer as true as steel, with high ideals accentuated by an unusually bright mind of firm convictions and boundless hopelessness, she was always considerate of others before herself. Men and women of all circle and vocations learned to hold her in highest esteem and sincerest affection.

Her home and heart were never too crowded to be of service to some who were less fortunate. Her happiest moments were when she was doing something for the comforts of others.

Her death comes as a great shock to all who knew here and had hopes of her many years of happiness and usefulness.

To this union seven children were born—on December 9, 1918, a great sorrow come to this family when they were bereft of their only son and brother, Fred.

Besides the husband she leaves six daughters, Anna, of Hillsboro, Bessie, of Reesville, Mary, of Deep River, Io., Orissa, Ruth and Stella, at home, who will miss the love and tender care that only a Mother can give. Also four grandchildren, three brothers, one sister, and a host of other relatives and friends.

OBITUARY.

Pauline Spargur, daughter of F. S. and Sadie Spargur, was born in Rainsboro, January 12, 1900 and died at the home of her parents in the same village November 15, 1925, aged 25 years, 10 months and 3 days.

All of her brief life had been spent in this vicinity where she had given generously of her time and talents to assist in various community enterprises because she loved her home town and wanted to do her part toward its development.

Having a frail body from infancy, she was denied many of the active pleasures of childhood but she was always thoughtful of the interests of others and was happy in seeing other children enjoy the things from which she was barred.

Her physical condition prevented her from reaching the heights in education for which she longed but even with the handicap under which she labored, she was able to complete the course of study in the home school and graduated with honors in the class of 1918.

She had a rare natural ability as a reader and impersonator and in that role she was at her best. Her cheerful witticisms and clever imitation of difficult characters will long remain a pleasing memory in the minds of her associates. The great desire of her life was to so develope her talent that she might become an expert in that branch of art but here, as in other things for which she aspired, she failed to reach her goal because of ill health. Though disappointed over and over again in life, she kept a sunny smile and was ready at any time to do what she could to help others and what she attempted was always well done.

December 19th, 1920 she was married to William Lawrence Brown to whom she has been a devoted helpmate. Theirs was indeed a happy married life and they were looking forward to even greater happiness when a child would be entrusted to their care. But again she was to be disappointed and a few hours after the birth of the little son for whose sake she had gone down into the valley of death, she passed to the great beyond without being conscious of the fact that she was a mother. We can not understand why she was taken in the prime of life, but with faith in the wisdom of him who doeth all things well we bide the time when he shall make it plain. Her devoted husband, father, mother and brother are crushed beneath the suddenness of their loss but to them there is comfort in the words of the poet:

"There is no death: An angel form
Walks o'er the earth with silent tread
And bears our best loved things away
And then we call them 'dead' "

"But ever near us though unseen
The dear immortal spirits tread
For all the boundless universe
Is life—there are no dead."

All that loving hearts and tender hands could do to lengthen his time with those he loved was done, but the Master called and he was ready to go.

when [illegible]

Dorothy Elizabeth Young was born December 4, 1910, and departed this life November 8, 1925, aged 14 years, 11 months and 3 days. She contracted pneumonia and all that loving hands and tenderest care could do was to no avail, for God called, and her little spirit wended its way back to him who doeth all things well.

The greatest care was given to brighten her little afflicted life, as she could not enjoy the pleasures of the home as others, yet in her quiet and peaceful way she won the love of all.

She leaves behind a father, mother, four brother, six sisters, one grandfather, two grand-mother and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

But why mourn! She is not dead, but fell asleep to awaken in her Savior's arms, there to await the coming of those she left behind.

MEMOIR

Of James William Holmes, of Highland, Ohio.

On last Thursday morning the gloom of the October skies lifted for a fe whorus as the spirit of James William Holmes left its worn body and passed thru the Heavenly gates. The beauty of the morning was as pure and bright as had been his life.

For over 80 years he met life with a triumphant spirit. His was the spirit of the soldier, who faces life fearlessly, whether at the battle front or in the midst of life's everyday conflicts.

Possessed of a magnficient physique in his youth, the hardships and the responibilities he carried in the Civil War left him a life long sufferer, but the "manly habitude of upright souls" was his and his mind always soared above his hardships and sufferings.

Tho the sphere of action in which his body moved was limited his mind cliamed the whole world for its own. Keenly alive to the topics of the day, he could discuss almost any subject of public interest local or remote. And, just as alive to human interests, his kindness of heart and genuine friendliness for everyone flowed forth in cheerfulness and genial conversation.

He was endowed wit han extraordinary feeling of obligation in business relations and his sense of honor amounted to a passion.

His devotion to the wife with whom he had journeyed 58 years and to the beloved daugther was to them "the shadow of a great rock in a weary land."

In our memories Mr. Holmes will always be associated with a bountiful garden of fruit trees, flowers and a deep seated love of beautiy in every form. During the last months of his life kind friends kept him constantly supplied with flowers . The beauty of the blossoms and the thotfulness of the givers never ceased to awaken gratitude in his heart.

Nearly al his life Mr. Holmes was a man of prayer and prayer became an increasingly vital factor in his life as years passed. Nothing but companionship with God could have made him so sublimely patient during the last torturing months.

WALTER B. SELPH.

Walter B. Selph, only son of David B. and Alma Duncanson Selph, was born in Hillsboro, on Aug. 10, 1901 and died at the home of his aunt, Mrs. L. E. Starr, near Buford, on December 10th, 1925. When Walter was eight years old his mother died and from then on he made his home with his grandmother, Mrs, Jennie Selph.

In 1919 he graduated from the Hillsboro High School. That summer he secured an appointment to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N Y. He went there to take the physical examination for entrance and it was en that he learned that he was afflicted with the dread disease that finally caused his death. But Walter returned home cheerful and hopeful.

In the fall of 1919 he went to California and spent a year with his father, attending college there. He returned to Hillsboro in the summer of 1920 and in the fall of that year entered Columbia University in New York City. It was while in New York that the dread disease, tuberculosis, got a firm hold on him. When he returned home in the spring he was run down but not discouraged. When physicians told him that his only hope for life was to go to bed and stay there he complied with their orders. He went to the home of his devoted aunt, Mrs. Starr, and there received every care and attention. At the end of a year he was greatly improved and it seemed that his health was restored. But, in a few months his health began to fail again and while he made an heroic fight, he steadily lost in strength until the end came.

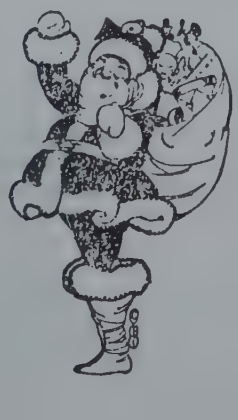

It was my pleasure to know Walter Selph well. The two things that especially impressed me about him were his wonderful disposition and his ambition wor an education. I knew him when he was well and when he was sick and he was always the same, cheerful and hopeful, kindly and considerate. Quiet, unassuming and modest, he impressed those who came to know him with his real worth, his high ideals and his fine character. I have never known any young fellow who had so many warm, true friends. Especially did he win the love, respect and esteem of older people Among all classes of people and those of all ages, since the word of his death, have been expressions of regret and sorrow that this fine young man had passed away and simple heartfelt tributes have been paid to his many fine traits of character.

Walter was determined to have a good education. He read good books and cultivated the acquaintance of edlictaed and intelligent men and women. He was always learning. He never gave up his ambition for a college education, even when his heal h began to fail. No matter what difficulties came up he was certain that he could overcome them and had his plans of how he would get more schooling. And only disease defeated this ambition and he made a brave fight against it.

While the life of our friend was short as lives are measured still it was full of kindness, consideration and help of others. He committed no selfish act, harbored no unkind thought. He brought pleasure and happiness to many and sorrow and trouble to none. His highest eulogy is the deep love and lasting friendships he won among those whose lives he touched. The gentle, kindly soul of our young friends has returned unto God who gave it.

Margaret Sayler was born October the second 1825 on a farm near Kingston, Pickaway County, Ohio, and passed from this life December the tenth, 1925, aged one hundred years, two months and eight days. Her father, Micah Sayler, was a progressive farmer raising fine stock and tilling his fertile fields on the Pickaway plains, (called by the Indians, Kinni-Kinnick Prairie) yet he always found time for spiritual and intellectual interests and they held a prominent place in his house hold. He also erected a schoolhouse on his farm so that his four children might have educational advantages near home. He and his wife were staunch Methodists and as churches were few in those days preaching services were often held in their home.

Margaret Sayler's mother, Elizabeth Moninett Sayler, was skilled in the various arts of a pioneer housewife and Margaret was early taught to spin flax and wool to weave cloth and sew and to become an expert in the culinary arts.

The mother was a descendant of the French Hugenots, "that brave band who for the sake of conscience braved the perils of these western wilds, to truly worship God." From these sturdy pioneers Margaret inherited her strong body and rugged constitution which carried her through a century of living.

She also inherited the scrupulous conscience and deep spiritual nature of her parents; and at the age of nine years she became a Methodist. Her early religious teaching in the home and the use of the Bible as a reader in the school developed in her a marked love for God's word which throughout her long life has indeed been "A lamp unto her feet and light unto her pathway."

Although of a timid nature she loved to give her testimony in the old-time class meetings and to sing the grand old hymns. She especially enjoyed the hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."

Almost her last conscious moments were spent in trying to sing, "How Firm a Foundation Ye Saints of the Lord is Laid for Your Faith in His Excellent Word." At the age of twenty-two Margaret Sayler was united in marriage to Jacob Sayler, and the young couple came to Hillsboro to reside.

Jacob Sayler had learned the art of watchmaking and finding that Hillsboro had no Jewelry store, he opened the first store of the kind in the town and continued in this business for almost seventy years. While Margaret Saylers' chief interest centered in her home and her church, she helped all good causes and various individuals and enterprises in her quiet way. Her home was a hospitable one and an especial welcome was given to ministers and their families many of whom refer to days spent under her roof. Her husband, Jacob Sayler, devoted much time to church affairs and to every movement made for the advancement of the town. He was a class leader, a Sunday School teacher and trustee of the M. E. Church. And was chairman of the building committee when the present M. E. church was erected in 1853.

When in 1873 and 74 The Woman's Crusade was launched against saloons and his wife, Margaret, joined the band of praying women he with other men, loyally supported the "Crusaders" of whom Margaret Sayler was the oldest living member at the time of her death.

She possessed a calm, cheerful disposition and endured with fortitude and patience the burdens of this life. As a whole her life was a serene and happy one, yet not devoid of sorrow.

The sons born of the union and for whom many fond parental plans were laid, died early in life and the cherished hopes were not fulfilled.

One daughter, Mrs. Emma Detwiler, is the only surviving child and with Mr. and Mrs. Detwiler and three daughters, Mrs. Sayler has made her home since Mr Sayler's death in 1916.

About two months ago she reached the one hundredth anniversary of her birthday and as she was the first resident in Hillsboro to reach the century milestone her friends far and near showered honors upon her and made a memorable occasion of the event. At this time her pastor, Rev. J. A. Hoffman, wrote an excellent article for the "Advocate" in which he stated that "For 91 years Mrs. Margaret Sayler had been a member of the Methodist denomination and for nearly eighty years she had been a member of the Hillsboro Methodist church. Also that she remembered the days when Ohio people generally lived in log cabins and traveled on horseback; when at night the open fireplace or tallow dip or candles furnished the only light; and that she had witnessed the coming of all the great inventions from telegraph to radio and the going of slavery and the American Saloon." Truly in her life was verified the promise, "With long life will I satisfy thee and show thee my salvation."

For sometime past when asked about her welfare, she would often reply—"I am still here" as if she were on the point of leaving for another realm. Once on her one hundredth birthday she said "I am looking into the Golden Future."

A few days ago it seemed as if angel hands slowly loosed the Silver Cord that held her to earth and not alone, but in the company of Divine One, who for a century had been her guide and companion, she crossed the mysterious divide which separates Time from Eternity and entered the longed for "Land of pure delight, where Saints Immortal reign."

We should not grieve over her departure, but rather rejoice that the dim eyes now see clearly, the frail body is again young and vigorous, the foosteps no longer falter in that Heavenly life, toward which her face was turned and for which she had spent a long lifetime of preparation.

For her redeemed of the Lord may chant the triumphant strain—

"Servant of God, well done,
Thy glorious warfare's past;
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last."
